

Dunedin Fine Art Center

A Social Guide

What is Dunedin Fine Art Center?

This is Dunedin Fine Art Center.

Dunedin Fine Art Center is sometimes called DFAC for short.

DFAC has art on display in galleries that I can visit.

I can also take classes or attend a summer camp at DFAC.

Visitor Services

This is the main location lobby where I will buy my ticket for the Children’s Museum.

I can also stop here to pick up a class catalog, visitor guide or ask questions about the art center.

Gallery Shop

This is the Gallery Shop at the Dunedin Fine Art Center, where I can look at and buy handmade items created by local artists.

Art Classes

There are lots of different classes I can choose from, like calligraphy, drawing, jewelry making, photography, and painting... just to name a few!

There are classes for all ages and learning levels.

If I am interested in taking a class, I can look through the Class Catalog.

Or, I can look up classes online.

Art Galleries

Maybe I just want a quiet space to view some art.

DFAC has several exhibit spaces. The art in these spaces changes regularly.

Many of these pieces are on sale. If I am interested in a piece, I can buy it to support DFAC and the artist.

Children's Museum & Summer Camps

DFAC also has a Children's Museum where kids can play, create, build, and explore!

And summer camps for kids, too.
